WUSF's program grid from November 2017. The late, great Prairie Home Companion is now a horrible millennial show hosted by a man who clearly enjoys the smell of his own farts. Piano Jazz has been replaced by an interesting series of jazz profiles, such as John Coltrane and Anita O'Day. The all-night jazz programming is generally quite good, though they don't take requests.

WMNF Community Radio is Tampa Bay's 'last', in terms of its non-commercial status. They play a mixture of styles in two to three-hour blocks daily, as well as news, local politics, and interviews.

WTMP is Tampa's only real soul station. It's been on the air since at least the early 70's. I remember hearing Stevie Wonder's Signed Sealed Delivered playing and my dad asking 'Did he just say 'up yours'?''. <https://tunein.com/radio/WTMP-1150-s23207/>

WBVM is a Christian pop station I'll listen to sometimes when they don't get too preachy.

WRBQ is also known as Q-105 and has been our corporate rock station for many years.

WQYK has delivered country music since I was in grade school, surprisingly from St. Pete instead of, say, Plant City.

But you must be very clever to win against the computer when it is set at high levels."

SELECTED QUOTATIONS OF DR. SAMUEL JOHNSON

From The Project Gutenberg EBook of Dictionary of Quotations from Ancient and Modern, English and Foreign Sources, by James Wood

=All censure of a man's self is oblique praise;
it is in order to show how much he can spare.=

=A wicked fellow is the most pious when he takes to it. He'll beat you all in piety.=

=Combinations of wickedness would overwhelm the world, did not those who have long practised perfidy grow faithless to each other.=

=Contempt is a kind of gangrene, which, if it seizes one part of a character, corrupts all the rest by degrees.=

=Deceit and falsehood, whatever conveniences they may for a time promise or produce, are,
in the sum of life, obstacles to happiness.=

=Economy is the parent of integrity, of liberty, and of ease, and the beauteous sister of temperance, of cheerfulness, and health.=

=Every desire is a viper in the bosom, who, when he was chill, was harmless, but when warmth gave him strength, exerted it in poison.=

=Fame is a shuttlecock. If it be struck only at one end of a room, it will soon fall to the floor. To keep it up, it must be struck at both ends.=

=Few things are more unpleasant than the transaction of business with men who are above knowing or caring what they have to do.=

=Frugality may be termed the daughter of prudence, the sister of temperance, and the parent of liberty.=

=Gluttony, where it prevails, is more violent, and certainly more despicable, than avarice itself.=

=Good and evil will grow up in this world together; and they who complain in peace of the insolence of the populace must remember that their insolence in peace is bravery in war.=

=He is no wise man that will quit a certainty for an uncertainty.=

=Hell is paved with good intentions.=

=Hope is itself a species of happiness, and perhaps the chief happiness which this world affords; but, like all other pleasures, its excesses must be expiated by pain; and expectations improperly indulged must end in disappointment.=

=Human life is everywhere a state in which much is to be endured and little to be enjoyed.=

=I am very fond of the company of ladies. I like their beauty; I like their delicacy; I like their vivacity; and I like their silence.=

=Knowledge without integrity is dangerous and dreadful.=

=Labour is exercise continued to fatigue; exercise is labour used only while it produces pleasure.=

=Life, to be worthy of a rational being, must be always in progression: we must always purpose to do more or better than in time past.=

=Make the most and the best of your lot, and compare yourself not with the few that are above you, but with the multitudes which are below you.=

="No," a monosyllable, the easiest learned by the child, but the most difficult to practise by the man, contains within it the import of a life, the weal or woe of an eternity.=

=One of the old man's miseries is that he cannot easily find a companion able to partake with him of the past.=

=Our esteem of great powers, or amiable qualities newly discovered, may embroider a day or a week, but a friendship of twenty years is interwoven with the texture of life.=

=Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel.=

=Pleasure which cannot be obtained but by unreasonable and unsuitable expense, must always end in pain.=

=Reason is like the sun, of which the light is constant, uniform, and lasting; fancy, a meteor of bright but transitory lustre, irregular in its motion and delusive in its direction.=

=Self-confidence is the first requisite to great undertakings.=

=To those that have lived long together, everything heard and everything seen recalls some pleasure communicated or some benefit conferred, some petty quarrel or some slight endearment.=

=Unnumbered suppliants crowd preferment's gate, / Athirst for wealth, and burning to be great; / Delusive fortune hears the incessant call, / They mount, they shine, evaporate, and fall.=

=We all live upon the hope of pleasing somebody; and the pleasure of pleasing ought to be greatest, and at last always will be greatest, when our endeavours are exerted in consequence of our duty.=
